

HIGH-GRADE BIOLOGY FOR OPTIMAL NUTRITION

Enhance your feed quality

Animal Health International is passionate about serving our customers. Working with industry experts, we've gained extensive experience using inoculants to help producers overcome a range of silage and high moisture shelled corn (HMSC) challenges during and after harvest. Our products and services make it easier to maximize yield, maintain nutritional quality within feed, and minimize spoilage.

Services we provide are:

- Applicator repair and maintenance
- Safety training meetings
- Pre-harvest preparation meetings

We're a resource for:

- Optimal kernel processing
- Silage pile construction and packaging
- Selecting the correct inoculant for current crop moisture levels
- Access to labs for VFA, yeast and mold profiles

Inoculant products

Inoculants help produce higher quality feed and allow animals to use that feed more efficiently. They also provide for a faster dropoff of pH as well as overall enhanced silage quality and a longer preservation of feedstuffs.

We offer customers the microbial-based inoculants they need from quality manufacturers. These products reflect our extensive crop experience, deep industry relationships and knowledge of animal feed technologies. Our product lines include:

- Animal Health International house brand products such as EZ Sile and EZ Chop
- Lallemand Magniva's product portfolio
- Christian Hansen's Silosolve product portfolio
